ESCRE 2015
European Symposium on Chemical Reaction Engineering

Event No. 721

INVITATION

56 years ago the first European Symposium on Chemical Reaction Engineering (ESCRE) was held in Amsterdam. This conference series turned into the international symposium ISCRE, which is held biannually in Europe, America and Asia. The next ESCRE (including the Annual Meeting of the ProcessNet subject division Chemical Reaction Engineering) will take place in 2015 in Germany.

Germany is an ideal choice for this meeting due to its diversified community as well as the strong interaction between academia and industry. The theme of the conference “CRE providing tomorrow’s solutions” emphasizes the necessity of CRE to meet the future challenges, particularly in energy sciences and technology.

The conference will be held at the Veranstaltungsforum Fürstfeld near Munich, a former monastery, providing a special atmosphere with this outstanding baroque location. The social programme includes poster party, Bavarian Evening and other social events.

Special sponsor packages for companies have been put together, providing attractive “platin” to “bronze” sponsoring opportunities. Wide space is reserved for industrial exhibition which is integrated in the poster exhibition and break area and allows an ideal interaction with participants from all over Europe.

We are looking forward to provide you a warm welcome and the settings for an exciting conference.

Kai-Olaf Hinrichsen
Chairman of ESCRE 2015
